

Open Day at the Tribunal

The ICTY opened its doors to welcome around 700 members of the public as part of The Hague's 'International Day'. During the event, visitors had the opportunity to take a look behind the scenes of the International City of Peace and Justice by visiting the ICTY and other international organisations in The Hague.

ICTY Vice-President Carmel Agius delivering the opening remarks.

The Vice-President of the Tribunal, Judge Carmel Agius, opened the event, stating: "For the past five years, the Tribunal has participated in this event with the greatest enthusiasm. The Open Doors Day offers an opportunity to reaffirm our partnership with the City that has been generously hosting us for the past twenty years, as well as a unique occasion to share our work with all of you."

Highlights of the Open Day included presentations on the role of international judges at the ICTY by Judges Christoph Flügge and Alphons Orié, and a presentation on the prosecution of sexual violence cases before the ICTY by Michelle Jarvis, Principal Legal Counsel (Deputy to the Prosecutor and Head of Appeals). Other presenters included OTP Chief of Operations Bob Reid, who explained the work of the Prosecutor's Office, and Martine Durocher from Chambers.

Training BiH Investigators on Accessing OTP Evidence

The third in a series of training sessions on accessing OTP evidence collection organised for judicial experts from Bosnia and Herzegovina (BiH) by the ICTY's Office of the Prosecutor (OTP) and the OSCE mission to BiH started on Monday 28 September in Sarajevo. Two OTP experts have conducted one training session in Sarajevo and one in Banja Luka for approximately 40 investigators from BiH.

The training organised by the OTP provides national prosecutors and investigators with remote electronic access to approximately 60 percent of the total of 9,000,000 pages of documents which constitute the OTP's evidence collection, consisting of witness statements, documents, video and audio files. The first two of a series of training sessions took place in June and November 2013 when the OTP experts conducted training sessions for 35 judicial experts from Banja Luka and Sarajevo.

The OTP training initiatives represent an important avenue for sharing its expertise with the judicial professionals of BiH aiming at strengthening the capacity of national jurisdictions for the successful prosecution of war crimes in the former Yugoslavia.

Launch of the Prosecuting Conflict-Related Sexual Violence (PSV) Network

The Prosecuting Conflict-Related Sexual Violence \(PSV\) Network was launched on 16 September by the ICTY OTP Deputy to the Prosecutor and Network's coordinator, Michelle Jarvis, in Zurich, during the annual conference of the International Association of Prosecutors (IAP).

Within the framework of the IAP where ICTY Prosecutor Serge Brammertz is a member of the Executive Committee, the Network is a new forum for prosecutors working on, or interested in, accountability for conflict-related sexual violence crimes. The idea for the PSV Network arose out of legacy work recently completed in the Office of the Prosecutor of the ICTY. It is designed to facilitate sharing expertise and ideas towards the collective improvement of approaches to prosecuting these crimes. The emphasis will be on problem-solving and practical legal tools to assist busy prosecutors with their work. It will also be an important avenue for channelling insights and expertise from the ICTY and other ad hoc courts and tribunals who are, or soon will be, completing their work.

Outreach documentary premieres in The Hague

The fourth feature-length documentary produced by the Tribunal's Outreach Programme, Crimes before the ICTY: Central Bosnia, premiered at The Hague Institute for Global Justice. The screening was attended by diplomats, representatives of international organisations and non-governmental organisations, academics, government officials and students. The documentary focuses on the investigation, prosecution, and adjudication of war crimes committed in Central Bosnia from 1993 - 1995.

The ICTY and MICT Registrar John Hocking opened the event, stating: "The aim of this documentary is to make the ICTY proceedings more accessible to all those interested in our work, as well as to strengthen the vital link between the Tribunal and the people in the former Yugoslavia." The Ambassador of Bosnia and Herzegovina to the Netherlands, H. E. Ahmed Halilović, emphasised the importance of having access to the ICTY's findings in an easily comprehensible form: "Presenting the work of the ICTY in a succinct and comprehensive manner enables the people in my country to better understand often complex legal issues and to actually see justice being done."

Crimes before the ICTY: Central Bosnia is available in English and Bosnian/Croatian/Serbian (BCS) and can be viewed on the Tribunal's YouTube channel. The complete series of Outreach produced documentaries can be viewed on the Tribunal's website.

Fourth round of the Youth Outreach Project started

The fourth round of the Tribunal's Youth Outreach project kicked off in the region with the first in a series of lectures. During the presentation entitled 'Guilty Pleas in the practice of the ICTY' students of the Straniak Academy for Democracy and Human Rights Summer School in Ulcinj, Montenegro, learned about the legal aspects of guilty pleas in relation to serious violations of international humanitarian law. Additionally, they looked at several guilty plea statements given before the ICTY.

The Youth Outreach Project is part of the ICTY's continued efforts to provide students across the region with information about the Tribunal's work, wider issues of transitional justice and post-conflict recovery. Since its launch in December 2011, the project has reached more than 8,000 high-school and university students in the region.

Prosecutor Brammertz at 9th Annual International Humanitarian Law Dialogs

Prosecutor Serge Brammertz participated in the Ninth Annual International Humanitarian Law Dialogs held from 31 August to 1 September at the Chautauqua Institution in Upstate New York, USA. The Dialogs hosted by the Robert H. Jackson Center are held annually with the aim of advancing the field of International Humanitarian Law. The theme of this year's conference was: 'The Wrongs We Seek: Commemorating the 1995 Srebrenica Massacre and the Opening of the International Military Tribunal at Nuremburg 1945.'

This year's gathering included the participation of renowned international prosecutors from the ICTY, the ICTR, the ICC, the Special Court for Sierra Leone, the Special Tribunal for Lebanon and the Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia, as well as a number of leading professionals in the field of International Humanitarian Law.

The attending prosecutors and deputy prosecutors signed the 2015 Chautauqua Declaration which, inter alia, deplored "the targeting of groups based on ethnicity, nationality, race, and religion" on the "occasion of the twentieth anniversary of the genocide at Srebrenica." The Conference concluded with the prosecutors and deputy prosecutors of the world's international courts and tribunals reaffirming the original Chautauqua Declaration issued in 2007 which stated that "the challenge for States and for the international community is to fulfill the promise of the law they created; to enforce judicial decisions; [and] to ensure the arrest and surrender of sought individuals."
