v.

VLASTIMIR ĐORĐEVIĆ

PUBLIC

DECISION ON VLASTIMIR ĐORĐEVIĆ'S MOTION FOR ACCESS TO TRANSCRIPTS, EXHIBITS AND DOCUMENTS IN PROSECUTOR V. SLOBODAN MILOŠEVIĆ, CASE NO. IT-02-54

The Office of the Prosecutor:

Mr Thomas Hannis
Mr Chester Stamp

Counsel for the Accused:

Mr Dragoljub Đorđević
Mr Veljko Đurđić

THIS TRIAL CHAMBER of the International Tribunal for the Prosecution of Persons Responsible for Serious Violations of International Humanitarian Law Committed in the Territory of the former Yugoslavia since 1991 (“Tribunal”) is seized of “Vlastimir Đorđević’s Motion for Access to Transcripts, Exhibits and Documents in the Case Prosecutor v. Milošević, Case No. IT-02-54”, filed publicly on 29 October 2007 (“Motion”), and hereby renders its decision thereon.

I. Competency to Decide Motion

1. The Trial Chamber notes that there is no longer any Chamber seized of the Slobodan Milošević case. Therefore, this Trial Chamber considers that it is competent, in the particular circumstances of the matter before it, to decide whether it is appropriate to grant access to Vlastimir Đorđević (“Accused”) to certain materials that are confidential in the Slobodan Milošević case.

II. Submissions

2. In the Motion, the Accused seeks the disclosure of the following materials from the Slobodan Milošević case: (a) transcripts of all proceedings; (b) all exhibits; and (c) all documentary evidence submitted by the parties. The request is limited to material relating to the Kosovo portion of the Slobodan Milošević case only.¹ The Accused argues that there is a significant geographical, temporal, and substantive overlap between his case and the Slobodan Milošević case² and that he is alleged to have participated in a joint criminal enterprise of which Slobodan Milošević is also alleged to have been a member.³ Consequently, the Accused argues that he has a right to fully access the trial record in the Slobodan Milošević case based on (a) such material’s possible significance to the preparation of his case; and (b) his right to a fair and expeditious trial.⁴

3. The Accused assures the Trial Chamber that he will respect all protective measures ordered by the Trial Chamber in the Slobodan Milošević case.⁵

4. The Prosecution did not file a Response.

III. Access to Public Material

5. With regard to the Accused’s request for access to transcripts of open session testimony, public exhibits, filings, and motions in the Slobodan Milošević case, the Trial Chamber notes that these materials are already available to the public and suggests that the Accused contact the Registry directly in relation thereto. It is not necessary for a Party to move a Chamber for access to material which is publicly available.

IV. Access to Confidential Material

6. Initially, the Chamber notes the well-established principle of the Tribunal that proceedings should be conducted in a public manner to the extent possible.⁶ In exceptional circumstances, however, a Chamber may restrict the access of the public, as well as the access of a Party, to certain material under the provisions of the Rules of Procedure and Evidence (“Rules”). Confidential material can be categorised into three types: inter partes, ex parte, and Rule 70. Each will be dealt with separately, as the standards for access are different for each type.

7. Confidential inter partes material. In respect of confidential (i.e. non-public) inter partes material, the legal standard that has developed in this Tribunal is that a Party may obtain such material from another case to assist it in the preparation of its case if the material sought has been identified or described by its general nature and if a legitimate forensic purpose for such access has been shown, i.e. if it is relevant and essential.⁷ The relevance of such material may be determined by showing the existence of a nexus between the applicant’s case and the original case from which the material is sought and the applicant is therefore required to demonstrate a “geographical, temporal or otherwise material overlap” between the two proceedings.⁸ The essential nature of the material, in turn, means that the Party seeking it must demonstrate “a good chance that access to this evidence will materially assist the applicant in preparing his case.”⁹ The incumbent Party need not, however, establish that the material sought would likely be admissible evidence or that it is an applicable legal precedent in the Party’s own case.¹⁰

8. Ex parte material. With respect to ex parte material, a different standard has been applied because the reasons for which the material was not afforded to the opposing Party during the original proceedings must be exhausted or at least dispensable in the second proceedings. This different standard has generally been referred to as being a “higher standard” with respect to establishing a legitimate forensic purpose.¹¹ What this “higher standard” is, however, has not been clearly defined in previous decisions addressing access to these materials. Moreover, ex parte submissions can be either public or confidential with different standards applicable to each of these two categorizations.

9. Public ex parte submissions are normally made to a Chamber on matters in which the opposing Party to the proceeding does not have a legal standing and therefore is not required to respond. For instance, a request made by one Party under Rule 54 bis for the production of certain documents from a State may be filed ex parte where the opposing Party has no interest in the matter and therefore enjoys no legal standing.

10. Confidential ex parte submissions, in contrast, may be filed for two different reasons. First, a Party may wish to keep an ex parte filing confidential because of security or sovereignty or similar concerns of a third party, such as a State or an international organization. This is customarily done pursuant to Rule 54 bis or Rule 70, which is dealt with later in this decision. Thus, access to such material is often subject to the consent of the third party concerned, while at the same time the Chamber must ensure that the accused’s right to a fair and public trial is maintained.

11. Secondly, however, an ex parte submission may also be filed confidentially because the opposing Party is not supposed to be informed at all of the submission (or a part thereof); it must remain secret to that Party, at least for the time being.¹² In such instances, the ex parte filing is made with the understanding that the other Party to the proceeding will not be afforded access to that material. This is done for a specific purpose, which may be one authorized under the Rules, such as where such a submission is filed confidentially and ex parte under Rule 69(A) for the non-disclosure of the identity of a victim or witness who may be in danger or at risk until such person is brought under the protection of the Tribunal. In any case, it is to be presumed that confidential ex parte material which was originally withheld from the other Party was of a nature that would not have impacted upon the fairness of the trial of the original proceedings.

Radoslav Brđanin*, Case No. IT-99-36-A, Decision on Mićo Stanišić’s Motion for Access to All Confidential Material in the Brđanin Case, 24 January 2007, para. 14; Prosecutor v. Blagoje Simić, Case No. IT-95-9-A, Decision on Defence Motion by Franko Simatović for Access to Transcripts, Exhibits, Documentary Evidence and Motions Filed by the Parties in the Simić et al. Case, 12 April 2005, p. 4.

¹² The Chamber notes that it uses the term “ex parte” here, as is often the case in the Tribunal’s jurisprudence, to mean material that is both ex parte and confidential, rather than material that is ex parte and public

12. The Trial Chamber reaffirms in this respect that the Prosecution's primary obligation under Rule 68 to disclose exculpatory material is not in any way restricted by an ex parte classification of material.

13. Where, in the original proceedings, a matter was not disclosed to a Party for reasons unrelated to concerns of sovereignty or security or similar interests, it is necessary for a subsequent moving Party to meet not only the threshold requirements for access to confidential inter partes material, but also to provide a good faith basis for why the interest it has in the confidential ex parte material is such that the original conditions which resulted in the barring of access to that material for the opposing Party, should now be set aside.

14. Given that information about this material, let alone the material itself, is not available to the subsequent moving Party, it will necessarily be difficult for this Party to meet this burden. In addition, it must be borne in mind that this extraordinary protection had been bestowed on the material in the original proceedings for the reason that a previous Chamber or Judge had ruled that the material should not be provided to the Party to the proceeding; this suggests that access to such ex parte material should be granted only exceptionally. The Chamber finds that the subsequent moving Party must establish that the following standards have been met:

- (a) Access to the material which was formerly filed ex parte for the purpose of concealing it from the opposing Party, is now required to ensure the fundamental right to a fair trial. For instance, this could be the case where the material would unfairly limit the subsequent moving Party's right to access exculpatory material as set out in Rule 68, or where failure to lift the previous ex parte status would substantially prejudice a Party's ability to cross-examine a witness.
- (b) The reasons for which the material was kept ex parte in the original proceedings are no longer applicable to the subsequent moving Party's request in the second proceedings. For instance, information about a witness underpinning a request for protective measures may no longer be necessary if the witness has subsequently died since the original proceeding.
- (c) The ex parte status of the material in the original proceedings has been or could be lifted without prejudice to the parties in those (first) proceedings.

V. Access to Confidential Rule 70 Material

15. Finally, material can be deemed confidential by virtue of the fact that it has been provided by a State pursuant to Rule 70 restrictions on its use. In such cases, where an applicant has satisfied the legal standard in paragraph 7 of the present decision, the State that has provided the material must still be consulted before the material can be given to another accused before the Tribunal, and the material must remain confidential.¹³ This is the case even where the Rule 70 provider(s) consented to the use of the material in one or more prior cases.¹⁴

VI. Deliberation

16. Applying these legal standards to the Motion, the Trial Chamber finds that there is a significant geographical, temporal, and substantive overlap between the Accused's case and the Kosovo portion of the Slobodan Milošević case. The crimes for which the Accused is alleged to be responsible are essentially the same, and he is alleged to have participated in a joint criminal enterprise along with Slobodan Milošević. Therefore, the Trial Chamber finds it appropriate to grant access to the Accused to confidential and inter partes materials in the Kosovo portion of the Slobodan Milošević case.

17. With respect to the confidential ex parte material, the Trial Chamber finds that the Accused has not demonstrated that access to the material which was formerly filed ex parte for the purpose of concealing it from the opposing Party, is now required to ensure his fundamental right to a fair trial. Further, the Trial Chamber finds that the Accused has not demonstrated that the reasons for which the material was kept ex parte in the original proceedings are no longer applicable to him. Thus, the Trial Chamber concludes that the higher standard for access to confidential ex parte material in respect of the opposing Party in the original proceedings has not been met, and that it is not necessary for the Chamber to consider the third factor set forth earlier in this decision.

18. Third, in respect of the Rule 70 material, the Chamber will order below that the Prosecution seek the consent of the Rule 70 provider(s) before it can be disclosed to the Accused.

VII. Disposition

19. Accordingly, the Trial Chamber, pursuant to Rules 54, 70, and 75 of the Rules of Procedure and Evidence of the Tribunal, hereby GRANTS the Motion, in part, and:

- a. ORDERS the Prosecution, due to its familiarity with the material concerned, to identify for the Registry the following inter partes material in the case of Prosecutor v. Slobodan Milošević, Case No. IT-02-54, for disclosure to the Accused:
 - (i) all closed and private session transcripts produced in the pre-trial and trial proceedings relating to the Kosovo portion of the Indictment not subject to Rule 70;
 - (ii) all confidential and under seal trial exhibits relating to the Kosovo portion of the Indictment not subject to Rule 70; and
 - (iii) all confidential and under seal filings by the parties during the proceedings relating to the Kosovo portion of the Indictment not subject to Rule 70.
- b. ORDERS the Prosecution to determine without delay which of the material requested is subject to the provisions of Rule 70, and immediately thereafter to contact the providers of such material to seek their consent for its disclosure, and immediately after that to inform the Registry whether consent for the disclosure of that material has been obtained or not, whichever is the case.
- c. ORDERS the Registry to withhold disclosure of any material subject to Rule 70 until such time as the Prosecution informs the Registry that consent for disclosure has been obtained, even in respect of those providers who have consented to the use of the relevant material in a prior case. Where consent cannot be obtained from provider(s) of any material subject to Rule 70, the material shall not be disclosed.
- d. ORDERS the Registry to disclose to the Accused
 - (i) the confidential and inter partes and non-Rule 70 material once it has been identified by the Prosecution in accordance with paragraph (a); and
 - (ii) the Rule 70 material once the Prosecution has identified such material and informed the Registry of the consent of the Rule 70 provider(s) in accordance with paragraphs (a), (b), and (c).
- e. ORDERS that no ex parte material be disclosed from the case of Prosecutor v. Slobodan Milošević, Case No. IT-02-54, without prejudice to the Defence of the Accused Đorđević to submit a further application which meets the standards set out in paragraph 14 of this decision.

- f. ORDERS that the Accused, his Defence team, and any employees who have been instructed or authorised by the Accused shall not disclose to the public, or to any third Party, any confidential or non-public material disclosed from the Slobodan Milošević case, including witness identities, statements, or transcripts, except to the limited extent that such disclosure to members of the public is directly and specifically necessary for the preparation and presentation of the Accused's case. If any confidential or non-public material is disclosed to the public where directly and specifically necessary, any person to whom disclosure is made shall be informed that he or she is forbidden to copy, reproduce, or publicise confidential or non-public information or to disclose it to any person, and that he or she must return the material to the Accused as soon as it is no longer needed for the preparation of the Accused's case. For the purpose of this Decision, "the public" means and includes all persons, governments, organisations, entities, clients, associations, and groups, other than the Judges of the Tribunal, the staff of the Registry, the Prosecutor and his representatives, and the Accused, his counsel, and any employees who have been instructed or authorised by the Accused's counsel to have access to the confidential material. "The public" also includes, without limitation, families, friends, and associates of the Accused; accused and defence counsel in other cases or proceedings before the Tribunal; the media; and journalists.
- g. ORDERS that nothing in this Order shall affect the disclosure obligations of the Prosecution under Rules 66 and 68; and RECALLS that it is the responsibility of the Prosecution to determine whether there is additional material related to the Slobodan Milošević case that should be disclosed to the Accused but which is not covered by the terms of this Decision.
- h. RECALLS that, pursuant to Rule 75(F)(i), any protective measures that have been ordered in respect of a witness in the Slobodan Milošević case shall continue to have effect in the case against the Accused, except insofar as they have been varied in accordance with this Decision.

- i. REQUESTS the Registry to facilitate the Accused's access to public material in the Slobodan Milošević case.
